Full-time Student Teachers are in their student teaching placement for the entire semester following their host school's calendar, including holidays. Full-time student teachers gradually assume the full range of responsibilities of a classroom teacher, including three weeks of full responsibility of the classroom and teaching. Part-time Early Childhood/Elementary and Elementary/Middle Level Student Teachers are in their student teaching placements on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays and are at Linfield University for their methods courses on Mondays and Fridays. In October (Fall semester) or April (Spring Semester) part-time student teachers are in their student teaching placements for three full weeks. Part-time student teachers follow the Linfield calendar for holidays. Part-time early childhood/elementary student teachers gradually assume the full range of responsibilities of a classroom teacher for three full days. Part-time Middle Level/High School Student Teachers are in their student teaching placements every school day for a minimum of one period. Part-time student teachers follow the Linfield calendar for holidays. Part-time middle level/high school student teachers gradually assume the full range of responsibilities of a classroom teacher for one-two periods a day for two weeks. Students are required to engage in aiding and observation field experiences in various local schools as part of their curriculum prior to student teaching. All education majors are required to engage in aiding and observation in classrooms for EDUC 150 (20 hours), EDUC 240 (13 Hours), EDUC 200 (20 hours), EDUC 302 (2 hours). Additionally, those pursuing Early Childhood/Elementary designation are required to aid and observe as part of their coursework for EDUC 401 (9 hours). Those pursuing and ESOL endorsement are also required to complete aiding and observation as part of their coursework for EDUC 250 (24 hours).

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2021-22.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2021-22

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2021-22. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education—Chemistry" category.

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

We meet regularly with PK-12 school partners to learn about school district needs. We translate this information to advising of students, office communication and processes, and occasionally, to adding new endorsements or programs. In our regular meetings with PK-12 school partners, they keep us abreast of current technology and instructional strategies being used in their respective districts and classrooms. We also learn this through faculty and adjunct faculty university supervisors who go out into the schools and observe student teachers. All candidates in our program take EDUC 302/260: Diversity & Inclusion. This course is a broad interdisciplinary examination of the school-society relationship in the United States and of the many issues embedded in this relationship including equal opportunity, students with special needs, human diversity, ideology, politics, and social change. In this writing intensive course, students examine multiple perspectives and discourses; work to understand one' own lens(es); examine systems of oppression (past and present), including an understanding of the social construction of identities; and develop strategies and dispositions to advocate for all learners, including an assets-based view of children and families. This course uses a social justice education framework as a way to identify and better understand the multiple and intersecting issues of race, class, gender, ability/disability spectrums, and oppression. Students in this course have a field experience in an autism classroom that gives them the opportunity to work with 6-8 students and the Special Education teacher and staff to plan, enact, and evaluate differentiated instruction. Students learn how individual, social/cultural, and institutional processes influence the ways that they design curricula and teaching. They also learn how to articulate key theoretical principles to explain individual and social processes, inform public policy and/or develop practical approaches to human problems across local, regional, and global contexts. They illustrate these understandings through written assignments, such as reading reviews, a mid-term paper, and a final research paper. In these papers, they connect the readings to their own background experience, to teaching, and to the broader realm of education in the U.S. In addition, they collaborate with their peers in small groups to lead class discussions and make extensions from the course readings by incorporating media clips and educational websites. Students also create a final aesthetic project that reflects an issue that was particularly compelling to them throughout the course then render it in an art form. This assignment presses them to think in a different way as we often ask our students to do. All PK-12 candidates are required to take EDUC 240: Foundations for Teaching ESOL, even if they are not in our ESOL endorsement program, Oregon has statewide ELL standards for all PK-12 candidates, which we have embedded across several program courses that all candidates take. All students in the Linfield Education Program take the compulsory EDUC 150: Introduction to Education and EDUC 302: Diversity and Inclusion courses. In EDUC 150, students are introduced to frameworks for cultural assets and instructional strategies with students from low socio-economic households. Additionally, students complete a 20-hour school aiding practicum. 80% of the students are placed in the lowest socioeconomic, most racially and linguistically diverse elementary school in a local district. In EDUC 302, students are introduced to social justice education, socio-cultural theories of race, gender, class, ability, among other identity factors with a focus on non-deficit and cultural assets, and equity in education. In this writing intensive course, students respond to readings, lead course discussions, and analyze their positionality in relation to society and institutional systems, specifically advocating with a social justice lens. Utilizing a socio-cultural lens and equity pedagogy framework that places social identities of students and teachers as imperative to teaching and learning, EDUC 302 students look at the intersections of identities of race, class, gender, language, immigration status, sexuality, spirituality, and geographical regions. As such, PK-12 students are contextualized in their social contexts as learners, and Linfield students are taught to adapt lessons through equity pedagogy and culturally relevant instruction.

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

In 2022-2023, we will meet with pre-Nursing advisors about having them suggest the option of pursuing Secondary Education if their pre-nursing advisees no longer want to continue as nursing majors. In past years, Linfield pre-nursing students have shifted their major from pre-Nursing to Education and have done well in our teacher education program. In 2022-2023 the Education department will make instagram posts and beautiful information posters about our Secondary Education major and post them in the buildings with Math & Science departments (and other departments that align with the endorsements we offer). This would provide a way to communicate with current Linfield students so that they know it is an option they could pursue a Secondary Education major (and licensure) during their 4-years at Linfield. For 2022-2023 the Education department will meet with Admissions counselors, especially the new counselors regarding our Education programs, specifically discussing our Secondary Education program for prospective students expressing interest in Mathematics or Science majors. Our faculty will continue to meet and talk with Math & Science departments regarding our Secondary Education Programs. The Secondary Education Coordinator will talk with Linfield coaches to let them know about our Secondary Education program and the option to pursue a teaching license, so they know about this option for their current athletes and athletes they are recruiting.

We made a requirement for students to take EDUC 200 Learning and Development before EDUC 240 Foundations for Teaching ESOL, so that students would have more background information in education before they did their ESOL aiding experience in EDUC 240. The ESOL program coordinator presented information about the ESOL endorsement to students in EDUC 150 Foundations of Education, EDUC 200 Learning and Development and during program application processing to increase awareness and interest. The Linfield Education Department collaborated with McMinnville School District on best practices Emergent Bilingual Programs and ran a Bilingual Teacher Scholars program for Education majors. The Linfield Education Department hosted teaching Today Virtual Events on issues of equity (recorded sessions) and promoted to alumni through social media.

Assessment Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. (§205(a)(1)(B))

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205(a)(1)(F))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction
  - Yes
- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning
  - Yes
- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning
  - Yes No
- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning
  - Yes
- 2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The Linfield TEP values technology use in 21st century classrooms and ensures that candidates model and apply technology standards as they design, implement, and assess engaging learning experiences and participate as professionals using technology. Technology-enhanced learning experiences are part of clinical experiences, and technology is assessed at multiple points in the program. CAEP Standard 1: Linfield TEP candidates are expected to use technology to engage students in learning, assess student learning, and engage in professional practice. In spring 2018 we piloted the technology rubrics that are Domain 6 of the Student Teaching Assessment, which are based on the ISTE Standards (https://www.iste.org/standards). These rubrics were collaboratively revised with our Consortium. Combined data is only from Spring 2018, Fall 2018, and Spring 2019 because we first assessed technology in Spring 2018. In Domain 6a Technology—Facilitate Experiences that Advance Student Learning average scores were high across all programs. The average scores were: Elementary-Multiple Subjects 3.4 (mode = 3); ESOL was 3.5 (mode = 4); and Art, Music, & PE/Single-Subjects: 3.5 (mode = 3). Because this is a new tool, we should continue to monitor these results closely and then analyze further and make recommendations, especially as we add "n's" to smaller content areas. This is Key Assessment data from Full-Time Student Teaching. See Component 1.5 for more information. Candidates are also assessed in technology during part-time student teaching on the same instrument. Finally, part of the TEP Application is creating an Introductory Video in which candidates are assessed on their ability to display engaging and effective technology skills. These latter two assessments are not key assessments; therefore, we are not presenting data at this time. CAEP Standard 2: The Linfield Education Consortium, our K-12 advisory board has served as a critical group in co-constructing our technology rubrics over the past several semesters. As we look at programmatic changes. CAEP Standard 3: Presently, TEP candidates must demonstrate effective use of technology at three transition points in the program. Part of the TEP Application is creating an Introductory Video in which candidates are assessed on their ability to display engaging and effective technology skills. They must achieve passing scores during Part-Time Student Teaching on the Student Teaching Assessment, which includes three technology rubrics, in order to transition into Full-Time Student Teaching. Finally, they must pass the Student Teaching Assessment, which includes three technology rubrics (scored by the College Supervisor) as a key assessment in order to become successful program completers.

- 1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:
  - a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

All students in the Linfield Education Program take the compulsory EDUC 302 Diversity and Education Course or EDUC 260 Equity and Culturally Responsive Teaching and EDUC 210 Foundations of Inclusion and Special Education. Within the content of these courses, students are introduced to their responsibilities as a comprehensive classroom teacher to identify academic, social, and behavioral disabilities based on IDEA legal definitions of disabilities. Students start with an understanding of Rtl with a case study of students with academic, social, and behavioral struggles. They learn to identify accommodations and interventions for their case study students and how to create a running-record of data on their improvement in achievement or lack thereof. Students then learn the structures in current schools of SAT Teams and how to refer a student for additional assistance for whom the interventions have not worked for. Finally, utilizing differentiated instruction as the philosophical backbone for inclusive education for all K-12 students, Linfield students explore frameworks and strategies for differentiated lesson planning. They create lessons that are differentiated for students with disabilities in classrooms as well as recognize that lessons that are differentiated are vital to all lesson planning instruction. Additionally, students work in an autism classroom with 12-16 students to plan, enact, and evaluate differentiated instruction.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Students learn the process for an IEP, their responsibility as a general education teacher, and the process of implementing accommodations. Students then work on the most commonly identified disabilities in classrooms, learn their definitions, identify specific accommodation strategies, and create a resource list of books and websites to be able to utilize for references as they enter the classrooms.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

All PK-12 candidates are required to take EDUC 240: Foundations for Teaching ESOL, even if they are not in our ESOL endorsement program. Oregon has statewide ELL standards for all PK-12 candidates, which we have embedded across several program courses that all candidates take. All students in the Linfield Education Program take the compulsory EDUC 150: Introduction to Education and EDUC 302: Diversity and Inclusion courses. In EDUC 150, students are introduced to frameworks for cultural assets and instructional strategies with students from low socio-economic households. Additionally, students complete a 20-hour school aiding practicum. 80% of the students are placed in the lowest socioeconomic, most racially and linguistically diverse elementary school in a local district. In EDUC 302, students are introduced to social justice education, socio-cultural theories of race, gender, class, ability, among other identity factors with a focus on non-deficit and cultural assets, and equity in education. In this writing intensive course, students respond to readings, lead course discussions, and analyze their positionality in relation to society and institutional systems, specifically advocating with a social justice lens. Utilizing a socio-cultural lens and equity pedagogy framework that places social identities of students and teachers as imperative to teaching and learning, EDUC 302 students look at the intersections of identities of race, class, gender, language, immigration status, sexuality, spirituality, and geographical regions. As such, PK-12 students are contextualized in their social contexts as learners, and Linfield students are taught to adapt lessons through equity pedagogy and culturally relevant instruction.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

lf	yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

b.	Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act .
